PRESIDENT HARDING ADVOCATES FEDERAL AID FOR AGRICULTURE

Chief Executive in Opening National Agricultural Conference Declares Farmer is Entitled to Every Support That Can Be Given Him.

Washington, Jan. 23.—Agriculture must be lifted from the chaotic depths of imminent disaster and placed firmly on a thriving basis by governmental aid if industrial and commercial America is to survive.

President Harding gave the nation this warning here today in opening the National Agricultural Conference called by the executive to effect adoption of a definite federal policy of encouraging the farmer.

The farmer "in his hour of disaster," is entitled to every support and assistance the government can give him, the president declared to four hundred delegates gathered here from all over the country for one of the most important conferences ever held in the national capital.

"If we fail him, we will precipitate a disaster that will affect every industry and commercial activity of the nation," the president asserted.

The government must do everything possible to ameliorate the "critical condition" of agriculture and its action must be immediate, the president warned. Greater financial aid, he said, should be extended to the farmer, transportation facilities, rail and water must be expanded to meet farming needs and every practical proposal for "watering arid land, for reclaiming cut-over forest areas and for protecting fertile valleys from undation should be given full encouragement.

"All this," said the president, "should be a part of recognized permanent policy. Not otherwise will it be possible to keep the nation self-supporting and as nearly self-contained as it has been in the past."

Speaking in the ball room of the new Willard Hotel, the president told the delegates, men and women, that conference recommendations cannot be accepted as final and that the farmer must do something to aid himself.

"It cannot be too strongly urged," said the farmer must be ready to help himself. This conference would do most lasting good if it would find ways to impress the great mass of farmers to avail themselves of the best methods. By this I mean that, in the last analysis, legislation can do little more than give the farmer the chance to organize and help himself."

The president advocated co-operative marketing. He urged development of all water resources for both transportation and power and came out strongly for prosecution of the St. Lawrence waterway project, designed to permit access of ocean going vessels to all great lakes ports. Certainly of long term farm loan credits, he suggested as one means of encouraging the farming industry.

Conference aims were outlined by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace. He explained that it was the hope of the administration that the conference might result in establishing more amicable relations between the government and the farmer and devise a permanent policy towards agriculture.

Low price returns for farm products was given as the reason for a drop in quality production by Sydney Anderson of Minnesota, chairman of the congressional joint commission of agricultural inquiry who also addressed the opening session.

EARLY ENDING OF ARBUCKLE TRIAL IS NOW IN SIGHT

Finger Print Expert May Be Last Witness Of The State.

San Francisco, Jan. 23.—An early culmination of the second manslaughter trial of Roscoe "Fatty" Arbuckle is in sight today.

District Attorney Brady announced that E. O. Heinrichs, finger expert on the stand when court recessed, Saturday, will be his last witness against the film star unless the court permits him to call witnesses to controvert the charge of Zev Prevon that she was coerced in her testimony. Should the district attorney succeed in opening up this avenue of inquiry, it may prolong the case indefinitely as the defense will then endeavor to establish their contention that undue pressure was exerted by the state on both Miss Prevon and Alice Blake.

The cross examination of Heinrichs will be a grilling one, Gavin McNab, chief defense counsel admitted today. Heinrichs will swear he found the finger prints of Arbuckle superimposed over those of Virginia Rappe on the door leading from room 1219 in which the state contends Arbuckle inflicted injuries which caused the death of Virginia Rappe. The defense plans to attempt to tear down this evidence through examination.

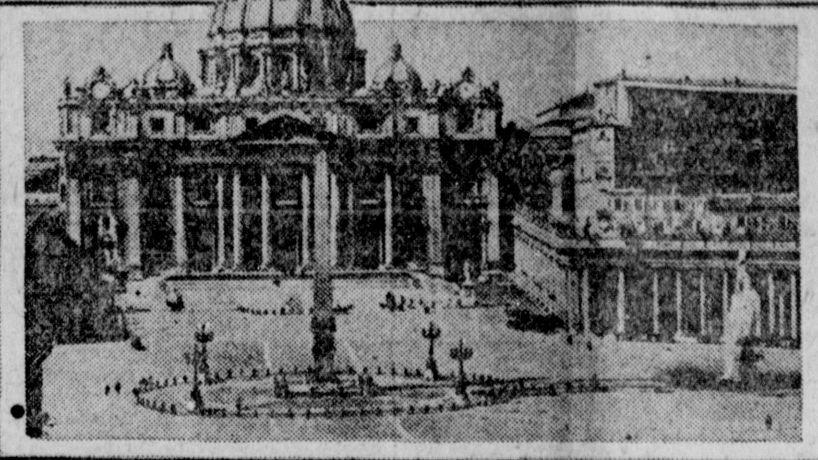

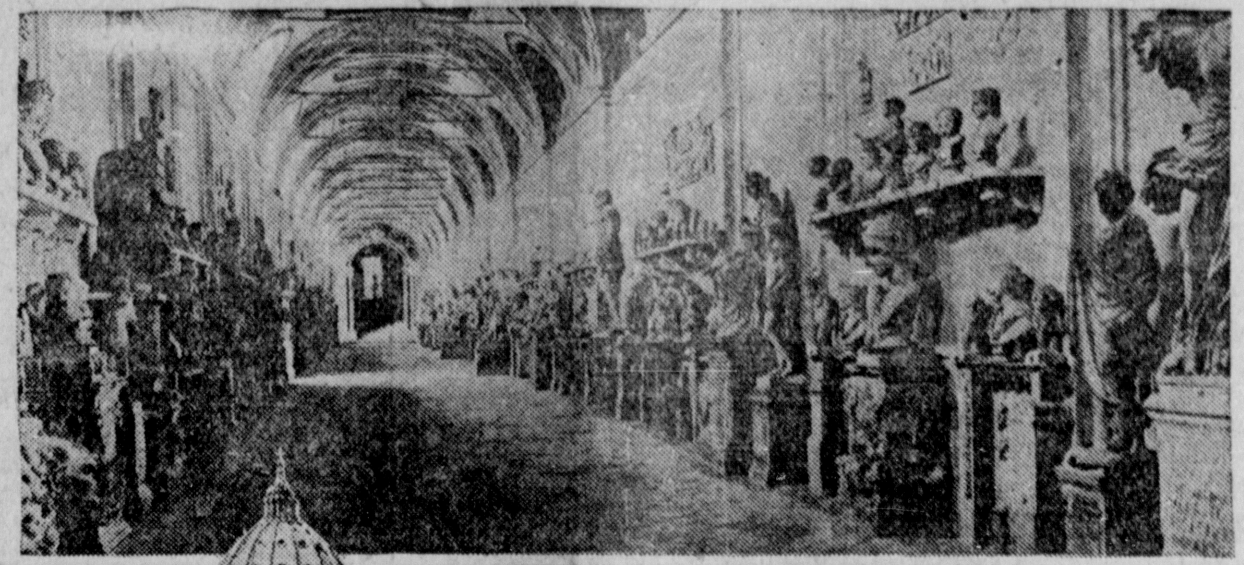

The defense has approximately twenty witnesses. Their climax as before will be the testimony of Arbuckle himself. One new medical expert will testify and possibly several new witnesses will be called to describe alleged previous occasions how Miss Rappe tore her clothes under similar circumstances. Expert medical witnesses will be called first in Arbuckle's defense.

McNab announced his intention of speeding the case in every possible manner and was inclined to believe that the case might be in the hands of the jury by next Saturday.

SENATOR BRAND ATTACKS ATTITUDE OF HIGHWAY COMMISSION IN ADDRESS

An appeal for the use of so-called native materials in the construction of roads in Ohio not only as a means of building good roads but as an economic measure, was made by Senator Charles Brand, of Urbana, Champaign county, before members of the Greene County Farm Bureau in annual session in the Court House Saturday afternoon.

In voicing his appeal, Senator Brand, who is the champion of better but more economic road-building in the state legislature, attacked the attitude of the State Highway Commission and openly charged that the department has been under the control of the brick association and other hard-road paving organizations which he charged are stronger in Ohio than in other states.

"Herrick worked for the brick people before he took the job of state highway commissioner and I don't think he could forget it," said Senator Brand. "Gradually, however, the people of Ohio are making him forget it." Governor Davis, the Senator intimated, has also been hard to convince of the advantages of more economic road building.

Briefly Senator Brand sketched the history of road building in Ohio, from the time Ebenezer Zane built the first road before the state was incorporated. He pointed out that there are 822 miles of roads in Greene county, 89 miles are known as state roads, and 38 miles of these state roads are paved. Outside of the state there are 732 miles of roads, the speaker. The selling of a contract to build seven miles of paved road between Cedarville and Jamestown in Columbus Saturday, he pointed out is an economical result of delay, as the road he said, would cost the county $50,000 less than it would have cost had the contract let when the original bids were received last August. Yet he said, the price today is twice what it was in 1915. He deplored the spending of over $20,000 to $30,000 a mile for paved roads, when the money could be used more advantageously and made to cover a large area by spreading it out through the use of native materials.

SEMI-FINALS TO BE PLAYED

Cleveland, Jan. 23.—Irving Spero, of Youngstown, is paired with S. H. Shapiro, of Cleveland and Hugo Hoffman is paired with W. J. Huske of Cleveland in the semi-final round of the annual championship tournament of the Ohio chess association to be played this evening.

Spero is the present state champion, while Shapiro is a former holder of the title. Much interest attaches to the contest as there has always been keen rivalry between the two players. Hoffman is present city champion.

Spero yesterday defeated Dr. J. G. Furlus of Akron, two games to one. Furlus has previously beaten R. D. Hamilton of Canton two games to one; Shapiro after disposing of Anderson in a postponed game defeated E. M. Moore, while Huske yesterday defeated M. A. Goldsmith who had beaten Elliott Stearns, former state champion, in the first round.

Senator Brand followed M. D. Lincoln, executive secretary of the Ohio State Farm Bureau, on the program. Mr. Lincoln, always an interesting speaker, brought out many facts concerning the advantages of the Farm Bureau organization, featuring the cooperative marketing and cooperative buying system which is growing rapidly within the Bureau.

All of the present officers of the Greene County Farm Bureau were re-elected at the close of the meeting. They are: W. B. Bryson, Xenia township, president; George W. Glass, Bath township, vice president; E. H. Smith, Silvercreek township, secretary and H. W. Eavey, Xenia, treasurer.

CHARGES AGAINST RICKARD ABSURD ATTORNEY DECLARES

New York, January 23.—Evidence that will make charges brought against George L. (Tex) Rickard, noted sport promoter, "appear to be more ridiculous than they appeared to be when first announced" will be obtained by Tuesday morning, it was stated last night by Max D. Steuer, attorney, representing Rickard.

The nature of this evidence was not disclosed, but friends of Rickard declared that developments indicated the Children's Society was not in possession of the facts when it filed the charges. Rickard has been accused of having criminally attacked the girls, Friends of Rickard, among them Major A. J. Drexel Biddle and other men of wealth and influence, today announced that they did not believe the charges and expressed the opinion that the police and District Attorney's office have erred.

The promoter is free on $1,000 bond.

MAN IS ACQUITTED IN BRIBERY CASE IN KENTUCKY COURT

Fess Whitaker, Former County Judge, Wins Verdict.

Whitesburg, Ky., Jan. 23.—A verdict acquittal by a jury from Perry County in the case of the commonwealth against Fess Whitaker, former county judge on a charge of accepting a bribe from William J. Bates, who was confined in a jail on a murder charge last year. Whitaker at first refused to release Bates on bond but later granted his request. This was the basis of the charge.

Whittaker in a remarkable campaign two years ago while serving a months sentence in jail on a misdemeanor charge, was elected county judge by a large majority. He was defeated for re-nomination however in the August primaries and later became an independent candidate for sheriff for which office he was also beaten.

He has announced that he will probably be a candidate for congress in 10th district this fall.

NEWS OF POPE'S DEATH FLASHED ALL OVER EUROPE

Amazing Conflict of Reports Causes Much Debate.

London, Jan. 23.—One of the most amazing conflicts in news reports in the history of journalism kept the whole world in doubt, as to the fate of Pope Benedict XV, who lay dying at the Vatican in Rome.

Through four different sources the information was received here that the sovereign pontiff of the church of Rome died late Saturday. All were accepted as absolutely true. The bells of the Roman Catholic churches tolled a requiem. Great and reverent crowds filled the cathedral and churches, offering up prayers for the repose of the Pope's soul.

Advices received in London late in the afternoon seemed to confirm all reports of the Pope's death for they said that the Italian royal family had been notified of the pope's death by Vatican officials. Belief was held in London that if the pope really was alive it could be regarded as nothing less than a miracle. About 6 o'clock, Cardinal Bourne announced that he had received official word direct from the Vatican that Pope Benedict had died. The bell of Westminster cathedral was tolled and the information was given out that the cardinal would leave for Rome Sunday to attend the funeral. Four hours later a denial was issued through Monsignor Jackmann of the cardinal's entourage. He gave out a statement "regretting that distressing mistake" had been made which cast gloom over every one and caused the tolling of cathedral bells.

Later the Pope's death was officially announced as having taken place at six o'clock Sunday morning, Rome time.

SHOULDER BROKEN WHEN SLED HITS AUTO ON SUNDAY

Raymond Kelly, 18, suffered a fractured left shoulder when he was struck by a Studebaker touring car, driven by Harry Piers, of Dayton, at the intersection of Third and Monroe Streets, Sunday afternoon, while coasting down the Monroe Street viaduct on a sled.

Kelly with William Bowermaster of East Third Street, had coasted down the steep incline, not noticing the approaching machine, on Third Street, at the foot of the hill. The sled struck the back wheels of the machine. Bowermaster was unhurt with the exception of a few bruises.

Kelly is employed at the Xenia Foundry and Machine Company.

FARM BUREAU FAVORS USE OF NATIVE MATERIALS

Resolutions urging more economy in road building through the use of native materials, following an address on that subject delivered by Senator Charles Brand of Urbana, were passed by the Greene County Farm Bureau at its annual meeting in the Court House Saturday afternoon.

The resolution as proposed, amended and finally passed, urged the Greene county commissioners to ask the state highway department for permission to use native material in the construction of roads in the county, as a more economical measure in the construction of county pikes, and to ask every township and subsidiary branch of the county organization to make a similar appeal.

Resolutions were also passed endorsing the cooperative organizations of the Ohio State Farm Bureau, recommending the establishment of a boys' and girls' club worker, and urging the establishment of a cooperative shipping association in Dayton.

The recommendation of the appointment by Greene county of the Home Demonstration Agent followed Conclave of Cardinals to Meet On Date Selected—Body Lies in State—Reconciliation Between Vatican and Quirinal May Occur—Next Pope Will Be An Italian.

Rome, Jan. 23.—The burial of Pope Benedict XV which was to take place at 5 o'clock this afternoon from St. Peters was postponed late in the afternoon. It is understood that it will take place on Tuesday or Wednesday.

The pontiff had expressed the wish in his will that the body be not embalmed. It was on account of this stipulation that the decision was originally taken to have a hasty interment in a crypt where the body will rest until the final tomb was prepared. The work of embalming the body was already under way when it was stopped by the prelates in charge of the funeral.

Rome, Jan. 23.—The conclave of cardinals to elect a successor to the late Pope Benedict XV will be held February 2, according to the Giornale today.

The mortal remains of the sovereign pontiff, dressed in ceremonial death robes, had been borne by noble guards from the papal chamber to the throne room to lie in state until the body was dressed in a white wool gown with red cape, white cassock and stole, white silk sash with gold tassels, white stockings, red shoes and gloves and a scarlet cape with a clasp of precious stones. The head was covered with a violet silk cap lined with ermine. The pontiff wore a ring and a gold mitre.

There were two circumstances to indicate reconciliation between the Vatican and the Quirinal may be near at hand. Contrary to previous custom, the Italian flag was lowered to half staff, on all government buildings. Furthermore, the Italian minister of justice, Signor Rodino, who is himself a Roman Catholic, called at the Vatican officially to present condolences of the Italian government.

A clash occurred between the crowds and the police in front of St. Peters during the morning. In the panic which ensued a number of persons were injured. The vast assemblage, which increased in numbers hourly, attempted to break through the police cordon and enter the church.

A constant stream of mourners, a considerable number of them Americans, passed before the papal bier. Many of them touched their rosaries to the cold fingers in token of farewell.

The funeral plans will be carried out in accordance with the living wishes of the pontiff. The body will be buried ultimately in the Vatican crypt, near the tomb of St. Peter.

Extra police guards have been stationed about the Vatican to handle the vast crowds and to prevent any disturbances by communists and anticlericals.

The Italian government has issued a circular letter to the powers assuring them that the conclave will have complete protection and will be assured of the utmost independence.

It is accepted as a foregone conclusion that the next pope will be an Italian. The two cardinals who are believed to have the best chances are: Cardinal Gasparri, papal secretary of state, and Cardinal Pietro Maffi, archbishop of Pisa.

It was pointed out in Vatican circles, however, that Cardinal Gasparri in the administration of his office, has offended more than one cardinal.

The Italians will have 31 votes in the conclave; the non-Italians will have 30.

If it becomes necessary to choose a compromise candidate as was the case in 1914, Cardinal-priest Alessandro Luadi, archbishop of Palermo or Cardinal Pietro Lafontaine, may be the successful choice.

Cardinal Mercier, archbishop of Malines (Belgium) has been mentioned and he probably would have the support of Cardinals from at least some of the allied countries, but he probably would be successfully opposed by the Gasparri group on the ground that he overstepped the bounds of clerical propriety by his patriotism to Belgium during the war.

Now that France is again represented at the Vatican with a diplomatic envoy (Ambassador Jonnat) the French are in a position of some influence politically.

The election will be watched with deep interest by the Italian government for the policies of the next sovereign pontiff may determine whether the reconciliation between the Vatican and the Quirinal is possible. That the Italian government is anxious for the reconciliation was made evident during the pontiff's final illness and after his death.

The last two popes, declaring against the "hostile domination of the Italian government" had refused to carry out the tradition of appearing upon the Vatican after the Papal election to bless the kneeling throng before St. Peters. The attitude of the new pontiff toward this tradition will be of deep significance as to his policy toward the state.

If the unofficial news is true that the conclave will convene on February 2, no time will have been lost in selecting a successor to Benedict XV. Under the laws of the church a conclave cannot be held until nine days after the death of the pope.

The papal secretary of state and chamberlain assembled a consistory to examine the pontiffs will and begin preparations for the conclave.

SERIOUS ISSUES FACE DELEGATES TO CONFERENCE

Future Policies of China, Russia and Japan To Be Decided.

STARTING CRITICAL

Japanese Refuse to Withdraw Troops From Siberia.

Washington, Jan. 23.—Decisions of grave importance in determining the future of China and Russia and Japanese policy in the Far East hung in the offing, today, as the Washington conference swung into its eleventh week.

In high conference circles, the week starting, today, is regarded as one of the most critical of the entire conference, involving as it does, the settlement of the supreme issues of the Far East, including:

1.—Announcement of a world policy toward Siberia and the numerous mushroom republics of the Far East.

2.—Settlement of the Shantung controversy.

3.—Consideration of the 21 demands through which Japan obtained a grip on two rich Chinese provinces, Manchuria and Mongolia.

Anticipating that a demand would be made in Washington for withdrawal of Japanese troops from Siberia, or at least a declaration of time when such withdrawal would be affected the Japanese delegates started the event this week with the flat pronouncement that their troops will not be withdrawn until "stable conditions" assure the safety of Japanese lives and property. The announcement of this policy was made officially in Tokyo and, significantly enough relayed to Washington at the very moment the conference is about to take up the Siberian question, the last on the conference agenda.

Enormous pressure is being brought again to bear on both Chinese and Japanese for a speedy adjustment of this old controversy. The Chinese have been informed that the conference will not consider the hated 21 demands until Shantung is cleared up. The Japanese have been advised that their stubbornness on Shantung is endangering the success of the conference and is especially endangering hard won Japanese prestige in other fields.

Meanwhile, two important treaties that are to come out of the conference—the five powered naval treaty and the nine powered Chinese treaty—are hung on the hook of indecision awaiting this week's adjustment of disputed issues.

WIRTH CABINET MAY COLLAPSE ON WEDNESDAY

If Compromise On Taxation Fails Worst Will Come.

NEW ELECTION

President Loeb, Reichstag, Sounds Note of Possible Change.

Berlin, Jan. 23.—"If a compromise on taxation fails, the cabinet of Chancellor Wirth may collapse Wednesday said President Loeb of the Reichstag, in addressing a public meeting of socialist workers. "Then we shall face new elections or else a cabinet controlled by the Stresemann Hefferich (nationalist) faction calmly but warning should be taken."

The government faces the situation given that if Chancellor Wirth resigns there will be an enormous decline in the value of the mark."

Heer Loeb praised the work of the cabinet saying: "The Wirth ministry gained international confidence by its policy of fulfillment. The Cannes meeting proved that the London indemnity ultimatum was indefensible. Chancellor Wirth and former Minister Rathenau obtained a reduction of forty percent in the allies demands."

MOTHER AND BABE SLAIN SLEEPING

Chicago, Jan. 23.—The bodies of Mrs. Marjorie Tierney, 26 years old, and her three-year-old son, tightly clasped in her arms, were found in the bed of a basement room by Louis Martenson, proprietor of an apartment house, early Sunday morning. The skulls of the woman and baby had been crushed with a hatchet, which was lying beside the bed.

Immediately after the disclosure of the double crime police began searching for Patrick Tierney, 30 years old, the woman's husband. Messages also were sent to the Chief of Police in San Francisco, asking him to locate relatives of Tierney.

After slaying the woman and child the murderer opened all gas jets in the room, evidently intending to set the building on fire, but presumably was frightened away before he could complete the work.

TWINs EXPECT TO LIVE TO BE 100

FAMILIES OF XENIA LIVE IN BARNS AND SHANTIES RECORDS OF SOCIAL SERVICE LEAGUE OF CITY INDICATE

An investigation into the records of the Social Service League shows that poverty in Xenia is rapidly approaching the point, where it constitutes an actual menace to the future welfare of the city. Whole families living in hovels, in actual want for the common necessities of life, undernourished and feeble children, fathers and mothers unable to provide means or to take care of their families—this is the unpleasant picture shown by a glimpse into the records on file in the City Building.

It is estimated by the League that five per cent of the population of the city is living in want, caused by sickness, unemployment, and feeble-mindedness. In a few of the 130 families attended by the League during the past year, some had as high as eleven children. It is estimated that there are many others in dire need who, through pride, will not appeal for help.

A few of the cases selected at random from the records of the Social Service League give a vivid idea of the situation as it prevails in Xenia today:

Families this fall who had to pay out most of father's earnings and part of a small savings fund for rent, higher than the family wanted or could afford, because nothing else could be found in Xenia.

One family under the League off and on for two years, composed of five members, living in the second story of a barn, the only approach to which is a ladder. The father and mother, as well as the children, are of rather low mentality, and their earning capacity is too small to enable them to afford anything better as a home.

Another family, this fall, living for a time in a one room shanty without a floor because at the time nothing else could be found.

At present a family composed of father, mother and children, living, eating and sleeping in one room.

A number of families in the last two weeks that have been entirely without food for two days. The truant officer discovered most of them because of the absence of the children from school. He ordered them back and on the first day after his rounds the Central Opportunity School had to meet the problem of feeding 25 children from other grades, for whom no preparation had been made, who would have been incapable of school work, had food not been given them.

Schools of the city have an enormous problem which is not at present adequately financed by the funds regularly set apart for the purposes of public education. Xenia has about 70 children, of school age, of subnormal mentality, who cannot be cared for in the regular grades. Some of these children come from homes where subnormal mentality prevails.

Many of them are capable only of manual training, yet even a few months have been sufficient for them to learn weaving and other simple manual arts, together with habits of honesty and courtesy.

Dr. Goddard, head of the Ohio Bureau of Juvenile Research, told Xenians a few months ago that no class of people keep more closely to a well-formed groove of habit than those of low mentality not incapable of simple training; that the right sort of training saves people of this type from vicious lives, and makes them contented, self-supporting factors in society. This is the work of the Opportunity Schools.

But the Opportunity Schools have to do more than provide the right grade and right rate of training for such children. Many of these children have to be bathed and clothed, all of them are undernourished and have to be given wholesome food in order to be capable of any sort of progress.

Reports for the League and the Opportunity Schools indicate that while herculean efforts are being made to relieve present conditions, the organizations are greatly hampered by lack of funds. Money is needed to finance the work on a scale that will not only afford temporary relief, but will also enable a constructive line of effort that will get at the underlying causes and present corrective measures.

It is for this purpose that the Community Chest Drive has been launched. Ten thousand dollars, the goal of the campaign, will be turned into channels that will lead to the elimination of indigence in this city. It is hoped thereby that the percentage of feeble mindedness will be lessened proportionately, and that many who today are of subnormal mentality will be guided to pursuits that will make them self supporting.

Feeble mindedness and tuberculosis are already dread menaces to the endurance of the state and nation, and a heavy burden to tax payers. Caring for such cases in public institutions solves nothing for the future. It is only temporary relief.

and those slightly benefited, but not cured, are at regular intervals discharged and set at large to make room for others on the waiting list, in worse condition than themselves.

"Such conditions as are enumerated above, are constant breeders of disease, degeneration, and degradation said a League worker, Monday.

"Men, Women and Young People of Xenia, THIS IS YOUR PROBLEM, FOR YOUR CITY!

"This reduces taxation for your children and affects the conditions in the midst of which they are to lead their lives!" the statement of the worker read.

Wool jersey has been pleasantly accepted as a practical material for children's dresses. In a lovely shade of yellow it has been used for the tot's frock shown, with all the edges button-hole-stitched in violet wool. The design is a simple one to follow. The skirt is not cut to the knees—it escapes them altogether, following the mode set for little French children.

The small boy does not permit the small girl to carry off all the honors in the fashion field. He wears the chic play suit also shown in the sketch. This, too, is made of wool jersey, in navy blue with dull orange trimming.

FEW FOLKS HAVE GRAY HAIR NOW

Druggist Says Ladies are Using Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur.

Hair that loses its color and lustre, or when it fades, turns gray, dull and lifeless, is caused by a lack of sulphur in the hair. Our grandmother made up a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur to keep her locks dark and beautiful, and thousands of women and men who value that even color, that beautiful dark shade of hair which is so attractive, use only this old-time recipe.

Nowadays we get this famous mixture improved by the addition of other ingredients by asking at any drug store for a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which darkens the hair so naturally, so evenly, that nobody can possibly tell it has been applied. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also brings back the gloss and lustre and gives it an appearance of abundance. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite to impart color and a youthful appearance to the hair. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

OVER FIVE HUNDRED DOLLARS IS RAISED BY CHEST CAMPAIGN

Xenia's campaign for a community chest for allied charities started with full speed ahead, Monday, when teams working received pledges amounting to more than $500.

This amount was reported at the campaign luncheon of the executive committee and team captains held at the Elk's Club, Monday, according to announcement of James Wilson, 3rd, who is executive chairman of the drive.

The reports given at the Elk's club did not represent all of the pledges secured during the first morning's solicitation. It is pointed out, as some of the captains did not make a report. It was anticipated by Mr. Wilson at noon Monday, that more than $1,000 would be pledged before Monday night, representing the first day's work in the drive.

The huge clock, showing instead of the passing of the hours, the progress of the community chest campaign, was erected on the Court House lawn, Monday and the hands will be changed hourly showing the progress of the campaign in dollars and cents.

Greene County Pomona Grange will be entertained by Xenia Grange in Junior Hall at 10 o'clock Wednesday, Jan. 25. Initiation at 11 o'clock, good program arranged with Mr. E. F. Taffing being the principal speaker. All grangers welcome. 1-23

The family of Mrs. Margaret Hagler wish to thank the neighbors and friends for the kindness shown during the sickness and death and for the lovely flowers and Mr. Neel for all his kindness.

BASKETBALL STAR IS SUFFERING FROM PNEUMONIA WORD

Orville Lones, star center on the Central High school basketball team, who was taken ill while on a trip with the team to Greenfield to play McClain High, last Friday night, is suffering from pneumonia at the home of Coach and Mrs. Jerry L. Katherman, on the Springfield pike, where he makes his home.

The lad was unable to participate in the game, last Friday night, and a physician advised that he be put to bed so that he would be unable to return home, Saturday. Missing train connections in Washington, C. H., Saturday morning, he returned to this city in an automobile from Washington, and his condition immediately appeared grave, and a physician was called in. His parents, Dr. and Mrs. W. H. Lones, of Ada, came here Sunday, and Mrs. Lones will remain with her son during his illness.

It is the opinion of the attending physician that the bump the boy received when the machine he was riding in, struck a rut on the way to Greenfield, had nothing to do with his present illness, which was pronounced pneumonia, Saturday. Monday attendants believed him somewhat improved, and his temperature was lower.

Mrs. Lawrence Luttrell, who has been seriously ill at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Bradstreet, on West Church street, was removed last Wednesday to the home of her grandmother, Mrs. E. W. Bradstreet, on the Fairground road, where she is improving.

OHIO IN GRIP OF COLD WAVE

Monday was Xenia's coldest day of the winter, and pedestrians moved a bit faster than usual to keep warm. It has been generally felt that a mild winter, was on tap, but the severe drop of the past few days, lowered hopes on that score. The temperature was said to have been as low as four degrees below zero early in the morning.

Old Sol made his appearance in the middle of the day, and made the cold, white aspect, appear a little brighter.

CEDARVILLE COLLEGE HEAD ADDRESSES TEACHERS' MEETING

Dr. W. R. McChesney, president of Cedarville College, eulogized Greene County and its advantages and benefits in an address before the teachers from all over the county attending the Greene County Teachers' Institute at the McKinley school building, Saturday afternoon.

Dr. McChesney's address closed the program of the all-day meeting. The speaker touched particularly on the opportunities afforded in Greene County in an educational way, through its rural and city schools and high schools, and its collegiate advantages.

Preparatory to the teaching of farm accounts, which becomes a required study in all rural schools with in two weeks, R. F. Taber, of Ohio State University, gave instruction to the teachers at the meeting, in the teaching of farm accounts. The topic was taken up at the institute in accordance with the plan which has been carried out of taking up some form of special work at each meeting, and to give instructions to teachers in the teaching of the new branch. The farm accounts requirement has been placed in the seventh and eighth grades of all rural schools in the county by County Superintendent H. C. Aultman, and more than 1,000 pupils will begin the study of that branch when it is opened up in two weeks. Mr. Taber's talk on the subject was followed by a general discussion.

"Socialized recitations", a subject which has been taken up by the teachers in text book form, and which will be introduced into the county school system soon was taken up at the meeting. Questions were submitted to the teachers by Superintendent

Aultman, Saturday, pertaining to the "socialized recitation" and each teacher was given an hour in which to write the answers.

The morning session, besides the address by Mr. Taber, was practically taken up with a number of five-minute talks by county teachers, as follows: Mrs. Harriet Wright, high school English; Miss Roxie Strong, writing; Miss Martha Saylor, Oral; Miss Blanche Walsh, hygiene; Harley Hollingsworth, spelling; and Miss Adah Westfall, Junior Reading.

Singing by the association and by a male quartette from Beavercreek composed of Messrs. Sayres, Sugden, Ankeny, Masters, and piano duet by Messrs. Mildred McKay and Wanda Hartsook from Caesarcreek high school and a vocal duet by Misses Pauline Brown and Hazel Dalhamer from Beavercreek high school represented the musical sections of the program. The Rev. E. W. Meyer led the devotionals.

WESLEYAN IS DEFEATED

Delaware, Jan. 23.—The Wittenberg basketball team invaded this city, Saturday night and remained just long enough to smash Ohio Wesleyan's perfectly clean basketball slate, and ruin her chances for state championship. The Lutheran lads completely outplayed the local quintet and forced them to be content with the trailing end of a 28-21 score.

THEATER MANAGER KILLED BY THUGS

Covington, Ky., Jan. 23.—A bandit shot and killed Morris Lee, 28, Strand theater manager, late last night, in an attempt to get the theater's Sunday receipts. The shooting occurred in front of Lee's home on Garrard street, at 11:15 o'clock as Lee, his father, mother and sister in an automobile drove to the curbing.

As Mrs. Lee stepped from the automobile with a satchel containing the money the bandit who had followed the Lees in another machine, leveled a revolver at her and demanded the money. She called her son and ran towards him. The bandit brushed by Mrs. Lee and fired a shot into the car, killing Lee.

WE DID THE BEST WE COULD FOR CHINA—BUT—

Responsible spokesmen of both America and China believe the open door in China at length has been thrown ajar. By adoption of the primary provisions of the Hughes resolution concession freebootery in China, with its graft, corruption and intrigues is held to have been brought to an end.

Rejection of the retroactive clause of the Hughes scheme is deplored. Its disappearance probably means the Washington Conference will attempt neither review nor revision of Japan's twenty-one demands. Failure of British diplomacy to support the retroactive provision doomed it. With Japan asking for its emasculation and Great Britain proposing its entire cancellation the fate of any purely American fight for its adoption was sealed.

France, like Japan and Great Britain, has "vested interests" in China that it would rather not have "investigated and reported upon" by any board of reference. The United States would have had to make its fight for retroaction alone except for the help of Italy. It would have been love's labor lost.

Secretary Hughes and China's friends in Washington are strongly of the opinion immensely more had been gained than forfeited in laying down rules for the future good behavior by the Powers in China. With the country in the throes of reconstruction and rebellion, opportunities for international loot at Peking and Canton, to say nothing of the eighteen or twenty provincial capitals, were never so tempting as they are today.

The Hughes amplification of the Hay policy has made the pursuit of those opportunities a vain pastime. The old game of grabbing while the grabbing was good is to stop. China herself is pledged to abandon the policy of trafficking in whatever foreign Government or corporation greased palms the most profusely. Only optimists in Washington profess faith that an era of Chinese economic utopia has been ushered in.

John Hay had said it all in 1809. As a matter of fact, not one nation of the proposed signers has ever gone out of its way to question or deny the justice of the "open door." Just the same, it generally has been violated.

WHAT WOULD THE WORLD DO WITHOUT U. S.?

Europe this year will require huge imports of American foodstuffs, the Department of Agriculture announced in making public a summary of the report of G. Y. Warren and W. Y. Callender, who returned recently after making a study of European agricultural and market conditions. Germany alone, it was said, will need 2,000,000 tons of imported foods before the next harvest, and the United Kingdom, France, the Scandinavian countries, Czechoslovakia, Austria, Italy and Switzerland are looking to America for great quantities to supplement their own supplies.

Excellent yields of wheat and rye were obtained before the severe drought of last spring developed, the investigators reported, but barley, oats, corn, potatoes, sugar beets and fodder crops were extensively damaged. Pasturage was so severely affected in some countries, it was said, that livestock was sold off, with a resultant depression of meat markets, and the drought delayed planting of winter wheat and caused a reduction in acreage.

Despite the increase in the 1921 wheat and rye crops over those of 1920, the department's investigators reported consumption of the new crop began about a month earlier than usual, and the condition of fall-sown wheat and rye is not satisfactory, so large imports will be necessary.

THEY'RE "WHITE ELEPHANTS," NO ODDS WHAT THE COLOR.

King Boris of Bulgaria is the modern "man with an elephant on his hands," and he wants to sell part of his private menagerie to an American zoological garden or circus. In particular, he would like to dispose of two elephants and several fine buffaloes which are now in the grounds of the summer palace near Sofia.

The menagerie was established by ex-Emperor Ferdinand, and the appetites of the elephants and buffaloes are so great that King Boris is hard pressed to feed them out of his slender income. The elephants alone consume grain and hay which cost more than the outlay for food for the young sovereign's own table.

The King is much attached to the elephants and calls them his "little pets," but Bulgaria's purse is empty, and so is the King's and he cannot afford to keep them.

Philadelphia wants them; New York has offered $3,000 for a "well developed pigmy," and Sol Stephen, manager of the Cincinnati Zoo, sent a cablegram to the King saying he would buy the elephants and buffaloes if their safe landing in New York was guaranteed.

THE OLD BOBSLED.

The last few days have made a lot of young ones happy—and children of a larger growth among them—with a return to something like the conditions of the "old-fashioned winter" of which old-timers tell.

There are lots of newfangled, highly sophisticated, waxed-floor, jazz band ways of spending an evening, but if there is more real fun within doors than there is out in the open on the snow with the bobsled, some of us require to be convinced of it.

You go down whizzing, in a whirl of snow and laughter, and you pull your own sled uphill. It's as close to an elemental contact with the earth as one is likely to get nowadays, and if there are bumps and bruises they're part of the game. While it lasts there is an exhilaration in swooping along with your nose six inches from the hard white crust that you couldn't get out of many a gallon of gasoline.

When we all get so soft and flabby as to prefer to sit toasting our toes when we might be freezing them we may be anxious for the future of our civilization. An "open" winter is not a boon, but a bane. The great drawback to life in tropic lands is that the people there know naught of the lure of hard black ice to the skater or the thrill that comes as the ski-jumper takes off or the toboggan goes down its inclined plane like a barrel going over Niagara. When we evolve ourselves entirely away from the "one-horse open sleigh" and the bobsled, it will be time to move on to Mars or some other place where they still have lots of snow and know how to play with it.—Public Ledger.

BUT THE TAIL DOESN'T SEEM TO STOP WAGGING

1902--Twenty Years Ago--1922

The trolley wire has been strung through the village of Yellow Springs and the track will be laid as soon as the ground can be excavated. Some little excitement was caused at the C. H. and D. this morning when a freight train was switching and bumped into a bumper which was placed at the end of the track on Detroit Street.

Mr. Seth White who has charge of the painting at the White wall paper shop has moved his family here from Dayton, and is residing on East Third Street.

Mrs. Marshall Wolf is entertaining several of her women friends at a thimble party this afternoon.

Well-Polished Nails

There is a good sound reason why the nails should be polished frequently. It not only gives them a fashionable gloss, but makes them stronger and will preserve their youthful looks all your life. A woman may grow old in every other way, but if she takes good care of her nails, they at least will always stay young.

Polishing the nails helps to do away with the ugly tendency toward ridges. It makes the nails pink by stimulation.

ing the circulation of blood under them, and it keeps them smooth and healthy by this same stimulation. This does not mean that the nails should be polished for a long period every day—25 or 30 swift strokes with a well-polished buffer are all that is necessary.

Some nails have a naturally high gloss. These should never have polishing powders used on them, for any powder of this sort is drying. There are nails that will not look well unless some artificial polish is used; but in this case, the powder should be washed off thoroughly and the nail made glossy again with a clean buffer.

Never use an artificial gloss which is painted on over the nails. This is a lazy habit and is bad for the nails. It will dry them out, and eventually it will make them crack and become ridged in appearance. According to all the good manicurists, the chief value of polishing the nails lies in the friction of the buffing. Using a glossy paint or enamel does away with a beneficial habit and forms a bad one.

Several people have asked whether a pink or white polishing powder is best. It does not matter in the least, as long as the powder is of good quality and is washed off before the final polishing.

Thank You Miss R. S.—I shall be glad to mail you the formula for the eyebrows if you send me an addressed stamped envelope.

Busy Bee—Often when the bust seems too large in very young girls, it is merely because they have not completed their development. Dress in some way that it will not be so noticeable, but you would do wrong to try to reduce.

Grateful—Always contract the pores after removing the blackheads. This can be done by dashes of very cold water, an ice rub, or using a mild astringent such as witch hazel.

Inquisitive—It is not a serious thing for growing children to be slender; if they are in good health this condition can hardly be called underweight.

June—A red nose often comes from an impacted colon or a sluggish liver. Clear your system and form the habit of drinking plenty of water, which will improve this condition.

Tomorrow—Answered Letters.

TAINTED MONEY.

J. Highlow Jigsmith rides in state in his large limousine; he has the price, he pays the freight, he's loaded with long green. Bystanders view him as he goes, and mutter, while they look, "He looms up big and yet he knows that he is but a crook." They sadly murmur as they gaze, "He is the chief of sharks; he got his money swindling jays and rubes and easy marks." The people dwell his deeds upon, and all his deeds they know; they know his record pro and con, and also to and fro. And so whenever he appears, as Bungtown's one best bet, they dig up from the bygone years the things he would forget. I often think, when sawing wood, at fifty cents a cord, that it is better to be good and gain a small reward. I'd hate to own a stack of brass, and Croesus-like appear, and have men whisper as I pass, the things I'd hate to hear. I often think, while herding ducks, or drinking drug-store fizz, that countless rolls of shining bucks won't buy the best there is. A massive fortune costs too much, and twice too much again, if the possessor gets in Dutch with honest fellow men. J. Highlow rides around in state, in opulence sublime; but had he always traveled straight he'd have a better time.

ALSO TUESDAY MATINEE AND NIGHT

The wife—the husband—and the mutual friend! You've seen such characters in other stories—but never before in one so amazing as this! A wife who goes into marriage with a lie on her lips; a husband who finds that lie and waits; a friend who had loved the woman once—still loved her, some said—and tried to bring happiness to a home bereft of it. They, and the child, sweep to a climax of drama, surprise and absolute amazement.

BIBLE LANDS ARE DESCRIBED SUNDAY BY CAPTAIN HURD

A representative audience greeted Captain H. C. Hurd at the Presbyterian Church Sunday night, and were held intensely for an hour and a half, while the speaker unfolded in an inimitable manner his "Wartime Observations in Bible Lands."

The lecture was filled with intimate personal touches which added to the entertainment. Dr. Hurd was connected with the British army in the establishment of civilian hospitals in the occupied territory and described many interesting incidents of his experience.

The size of the country is "Tiny Palestine," he said. "If you stand on Mt. Ebal you can see all of the country. One of my favorite spots was just outside of Nazareth. I know the streets of Nazareth better than the streets of Xenia. This point over looks the plain of Esdraelon."

The speaker then described some of the history surrounding this plain and referred to several battles fought there. Elucidating upon the scripture references, he spoke of Alexander the Great, of Napoleon of the British fighting the battle of Megiddo.

"Palestine has always been the highway of the nations from Egypt through to Babylonia and Syria," he said. "I desire to make a prophecy tonight, that before many years there will be a junction point north of Palestine, where the great railroads will meet. One from the Cape to Cairo, which will wind its way up from Egypt through this plain of Esdraelon. The road from Europe to the east and north will meet at Aleppo Syria. He also spoke of the size, the history and changes."

The Rev. William H. Tilford pronounced it an inspiring and helpful evening. A fine Bible sermon.

Many incidents in the life of Christ glowed with new light under the charm of the speaker. The old testament stories leaped with life and interest as this observer of eastern customs touched them with potent words. Dr. Messenger in speaking of the evening said: "I heard Captain Hurd about a year ago. He did not repeat himself once in all his lecture this evening. It was wonderful. Miss Elwell of the Central High Staff said: 'Was it not a wonderful treat?'"

REFORMED CHURCH TAXED FOR REVIVAL MEETING SUNDAY

The First Reformed Church was taxed to the limit of its seating capacity Sunday evening in the Group Evangelistic meeting.

The pastor preached a powerful and masterly sermon on the conspicuous love of God toward all classes of sinners in the death of Jesus Christ. He pointed out from the scriptures that Jesus Christ died to save the weak, the misfit, the failure in human life, the irreverent, the worldly, the materialist, the religionist, the moralist, the criminal. That this salvation extended to being saved from the wrath of God, and that Jesus Christ died so that man could measure up to what God originally intended him to be, fellowship with God in this life and in the life to come.

The singing was led by Mr. Orville Painter, a former resident of Xenia, now living in Dayton. Mrs. James Hawkins was the soloist, who sang an invitation hymn entitled, "Come unto Me." Mr. Marshall Best presided at the organ.

Monday night the Rev. D. D. Dodds, D. D. will preach the sermon.

MAUDE ADAMS TO WIN MORE FAME AS AN INVENTOR

Schenectady, N. Y., Jan. 20.—Maude Adams, actress, beloved by thousands of theater goers, will win everlasting fame as an inventor experts of the general electric company predict.

"Peter Pan" of the American stage has lived in Schenectady for nearly a year perfecting a motion picture color process which she has invented for pictures for children.

Because of her frail health, it is not believed by those close to her that she will ever return to the stage.

The actress has her own laboratory and there when her health permits she works on her invention.

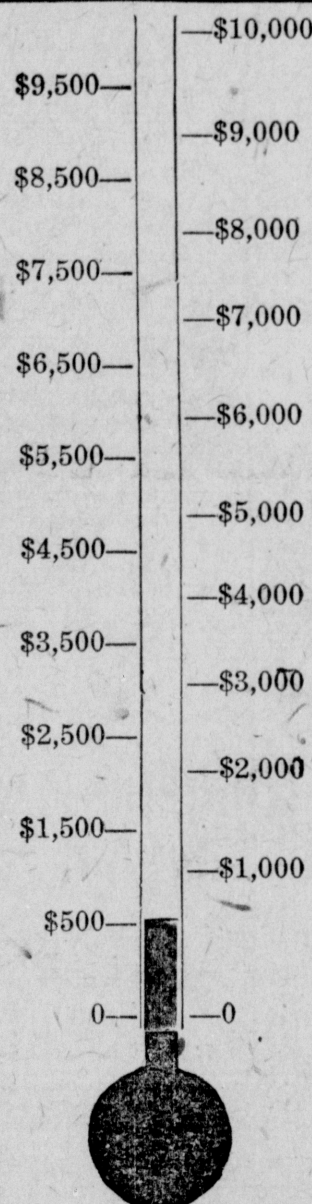

By special arrangement, the experts of the General Electric company are giving her all the help possible. These declare he color process she has discovered will be a "great boon to the motion picture industry" and establish a permanent place for the actress in scientific ranks.

Every precaution is taken to guard her laboratory and prevent leaks about the invention.

JANUARY 31 LAST DAY TO HUNT DUCKS

January 31 is the last day on which wild ducks and geese, coots, gallinules, and Wilson snipe or jacksnipe may be hunted anywhere in the United States under the Federal law which prescribes seasons on migratory game birds. This law, which is administered by the Bureau of Biological survey of the United States Department of Agriculture, provides however, that the carcasses of birds killed during the open season may be possessed for an additional period of 10 days following the end of the season if state or local laws do not prohibit it. The possession of carcasses of wild ducks, geese, and other migratory game birds in cold storage plants after February 10, renders owners subject to prosecution in the Federal courts.

Increase In Weight

MILLIONS of people all over the United States and Canada have not only been relieved of the most obstinate forms of dyspepsia and indigestion by the Tanlac Treatment after other remedies have failed, but many of them have reported a remarkable and rapid increase in weight and a return to normal health and strength by its use.

Although Tanlac's claims for supremacy are abundantly supported by the world's leading authorities, it is the people themselves who have really made Tanlac what it is. Millions upon millions have used it with the most gratifying results and have told other millions what it has done for them.

That is THE REASON WHY Tanlac has become the real sensation of the drug trade in the United States and Canada, and that is also THE REASON WHY it is having the largest sale of any medicine of its kind in the world today.

Tanlac is sold in Xenia by Sayre & Hemphill, and by leading druggists everywhere.

WILL RIDE ENGINE TO COLUMBUS FROM XENIA, WEDNESDAY

When the Pennsylvania special carrying the executives and hundred pointers of the National Cash Register Co. stops at Xenia next Wednesday afternoon at four o'clock Frederick B. Patterson, president of the company will board the engine and ride in it to Columbus. The special train of fourteen solid pullmans will leave Dayton at 3:30 for New York where the last three days of the big sales convention will be held. The members of the party will be escorted to the depot through the streets of Dayton in a monster prosperity parade this will be a remarkable demonstration, it has been heartily endorsed by the city commission who have proclaimed a half holiday in its hour. All Dayton's civic organizations endorsed it is estimated that the parade will be one mile in length it will be led by John H. Patterson and other executives of the company the parade pointers and the more than 4,000 men and women employees at the factory. Five bands will play lively airs for the marchers who will march eight abreast numerous banners will be carried if the weather permits several beautiful floats will be in the parade. A halt will be made at the court house where Mayor Frank B. Hale will extend an official welcome to the hundred pointers and express the city's appreciation for the fact that more than five thousand employees have been kept steadily employed when business generally was at low ebb.

MOTION PICTURES WILL BE TREATED TO A CLEAN UP

Washington, Jan. 23.—A genuine "spring cleaning" to purge motion pictures of all semblance of salaciousness was promised by Will H. Hays, who leaves president Harding's cabinet March 4, to head a new association of motion picture producers and distributors. A real moral cleansing and not a campaign against extension of censorship of films is the purpose of the association, which will pay him $150,000 a year when he resigns as postmaster general, Mr. Hays declared. "I will head what you might term a moral crusade in the film industry after March 4," Hays said. "There is nothing to this talk that the people with which I will be associated plan any campaign against censorship of motion pictures. They have never mentioned censorship to me in any way. We have two objectives. We will attempt to attain and may maintain the highest standards in motion picture production and seek to develop the moral and educational values of motion pictures to their highest degrees. That is all we plan."

REV. DODDS WILL REMAIN IN XENIA

The Rev. D. D. Dodds, pastor of the First United Presbyterian Church of this city, who received a call from the congregation of United Presbyterian church at Emsworth, Pennsylvania, recently, has decided to remain with his present congregation in Xenia. The announcement of Dr. Dodds' decision was made to his congregation at the Sunday services. "My decision was made through the pressure brought upon me by the members of my church, urging me to remain in Xenia, and from my many friends outside of the church," Dr. Dodds said. "The attitude of the public has been appreciated by me very highly and I consider the possibilities of soul-winning in Xenia, greater than in the east."

KEEP TOUCHING PEOPLE

Influence is like the hot gold they pour into the molds that make high valued coins by which the commerce of the world is carried on. If people didn't possess influence their lives would be so separated that their souls would starve. Your presence gives out a feeling of comfortableness and happiness to those with whom you come in contact, or else—you don't matter! Like coins, our influence is a medium of exchange. We take on influence from others and are made the better for it, if the influence is good. And we give our influence in return. Keep touching people. When I was in college, my roommate came to me one evening and told me that a certain book had changed the whole course of his life. He went into detail as to the lovely character that the novelist had so masterly portrayed. My friend's life had been influenced by one whose work had been finished—but whose influence was as vital as though the author still breathed. I like to think of influence between human beings in the same way as I think of the delicate perfume which the flower gives off. The latter makes me love the beauty of the flower the more, and when a great book or person has influenced me for my good, I love that writer or friend the more. Keep touching people! Thus you may join the company of the stars, the blue sky, the trees, the birds, the busy streams of the forest, the solid rocks, and the incomparably colored flowers which tint the smiles of Nature.

DISCUSS MEANS TO BRING PEACE IN RAIL CIRCLES

Chicago, Jan. 23.—Ways and Means of bringing about closer and more peaceful relations between the railroads and their employees were the main topic of discussion at the meeting of the American Railway Executives' Association, which convened here Saturday. After a series of conferences with Secretary of Commerce Hoover, in which the railroad situation was thoroughly threshed out, the executives have come together to see if it is possible to evolve some concrete plan of action. It is especially desired to cut down the constant litigation between the roads and the United States railway labor board, which is held to be not conducive to friendly relations between the roads and their employees. "There is a desire on the part of the railroads to obtain closer relations," said Robert Binkert, secretary of the association. "No industry in constant litigation is likely to reach a state of peaceful prosperity. The way out is to get together."

MUST ISSUE MILEAGE BOOKS

Washington, Jan. 23.—The senate has passed a bill requiring the interstate commerce commission to direct the railroads to issue interchangeable mileage books at "just and reasonable" rates. The bill was sponsored by Senator Cummins, Republican, of Iowa, chairman of the senate interstate commerce commission as a substitute for those offered by Senators Watson, Republican of Indiana and Robinson Democrat, of Arkansas, which would have fixed the railroad mileage rate at 2 1/8 cents per mile.

He declared that the place that managed to keep him was the army, from which he failed to escape, but was given a dishonorable discharge after serving ten months on a desertion charge. Bodnar was fined $10.

BOARD ORDERS ROAD TO APPEAR

Chicago, Jan. 23.—The United States Railway labor board, has cited the interstate railroad company operating lines in Southwestern Virginia, to appear before it on Feb. 6 for an inquiry as to whether the road has violated an order of the board. It is charged that road has ignored an order of the labor board directing it to reinstate S. E. Arwood and H. E. Silvers, a switchman and fireman, respectively, who were discharged, it is alleged for giving union officials information concerning wage scales paid on the railroad. It was the contention of the unions that the interstate road was not putting into effect the wage increase order issued by the labor board in May, 1920. The interstate road did not combat the charges but replied that it did not care to present any evidence in case because it does not deal with its employees through representatives of the labor organizations. The labor board sustained the positions of the Labor unions and ordered Silvers and Arwood reinstated.

93% of the old Elbinger pfd. Stockholders have subscribed to the new 8% pfd. issue

The capitalization of The Elbinger Shoe Manufacturing Company, of Lebanon, Ohio, has been increased to half a million dollars, 8% cumulative, convertible preferred stock and 40,000 shares of no-par-value common stock.

Earnings for the past six years, 1915 to 1920 inclusive, averaged in excess of 125% per year on the common shares then outstanding.

THE fact that 93% of the holders of The Elbinger Shoe Manufacturing Company's old preferred stock have subscribed to the new 8% issue, should carry considerable weight with the investors who base their actions on facts. The company or organization who can enlist the interest and capital of so great a percentage of the old stockholders, certainly must have an enviable record of management and merchandising.

The quarterly dividend, on the old stock, paid September 30th, 1921, completed the tenth consecutive year in which this company has paid dividends. This achievement is all the more marked when it is remembered that the year 1920 was a difficult period for business in general and shoe manufacturers in particular.

This company's modernly equipped factory at Lebanon, Ohio, has an annual capacity of a half million pairs of shoes per year. They specialize in making medium priced shoes for women. They are very well equipped to handle the manufacture of these shoes in large quantities, thus affording maximum profit with minimum expense.

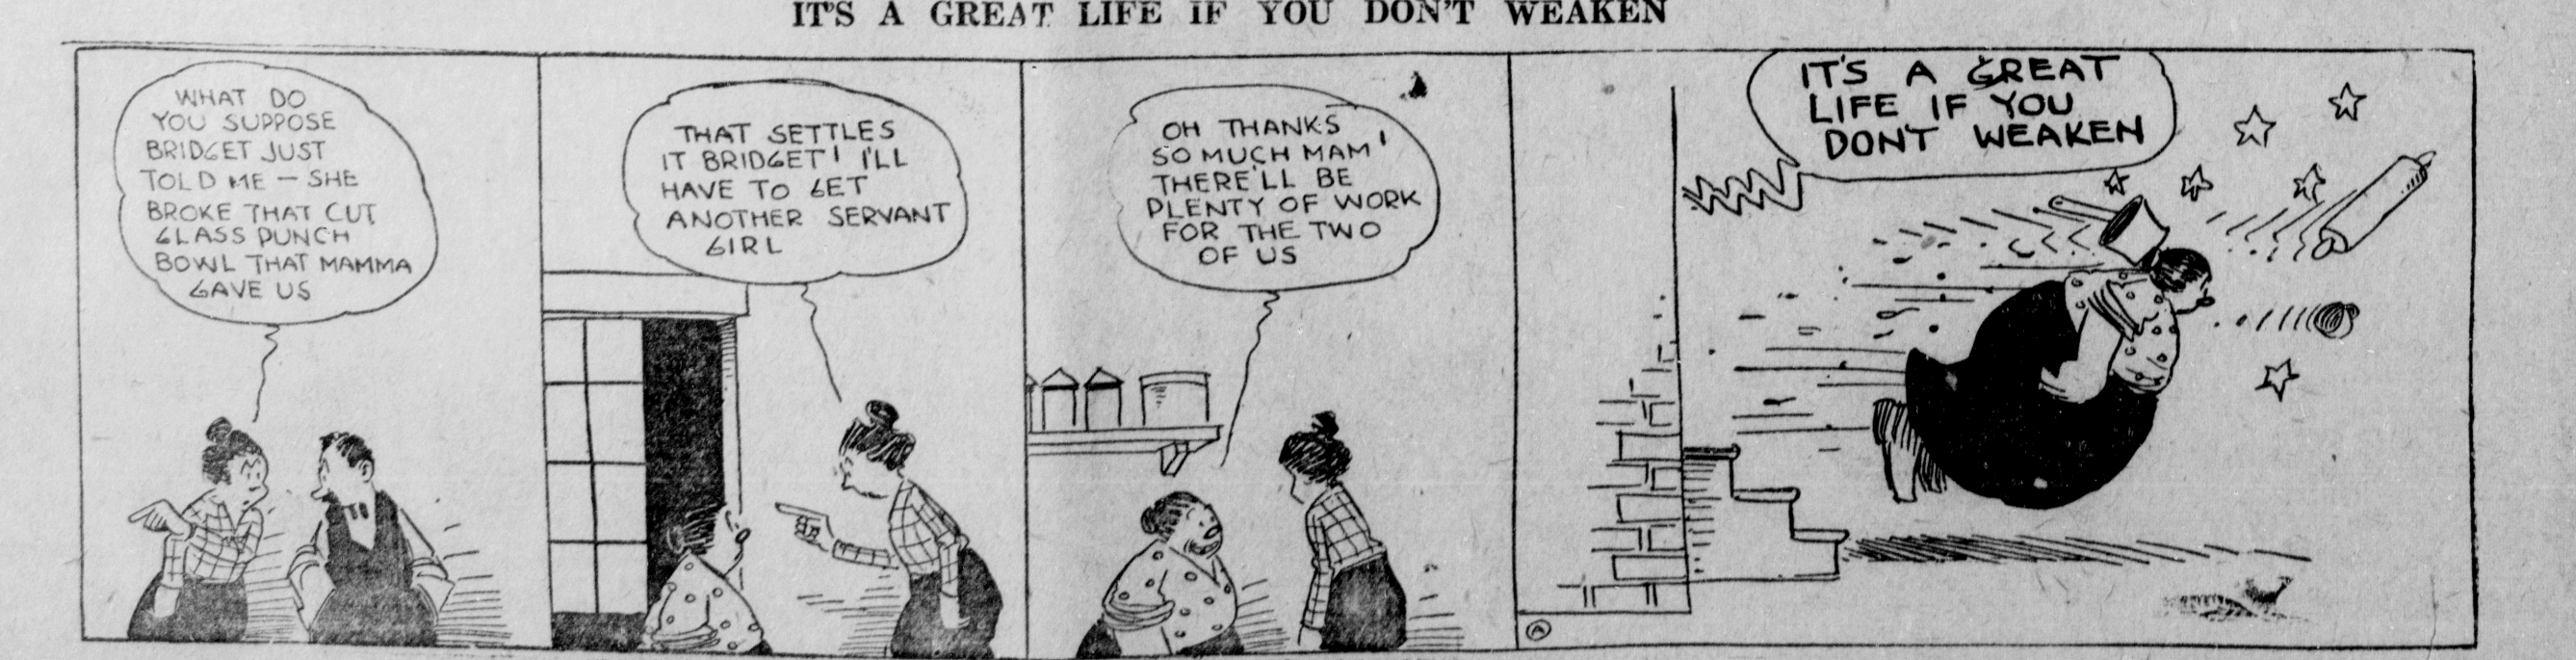

The new 8% cumulative convertible preferred issue has been drawn up to include numerous liberal provisions and safeguards. For a detailed description of the factory and particulars of this issue, WRITE for our illustrated booklet.

VICTORS DEFEAT DAYTON 25 TO 24

By the uncomfortable margin of a long point, the Xenia Victors defeated the Stewart-Patterson Park five of Dayton at the Rink here Saturday night, the final score being 25 to 24.

A goal by Jackson in the closing seconds of play, with the visitors holding a one-point lead, put the local team out in front of the scoring procession when the whistle blew. Schwab at center, was the main point collector for the locals with six field goals while Lange-man contributed seven counters for the Dayton team. After the game the Novelty Four orchestra of this city furnished music for dancing. Lineup and summary:

USE DYNAMITE TO RELEASE FERRY

Cheyboy, Mich., Jan. 23.—Dynamite may be used to release the car ferry Wawatam, held fast for thirty-six hours in the ice floes off Mackinac City, with 150 passengers, and the D. S. and A. train from the upper peninsula aboard her.

A blizzard and the treacherous condition of the ice makes it impossible to bring the passengers ashore over the frozen waters of the straits, but no fears are entertained for those aboard as the vessel is well stocked with fuel and provisions and is in no immediate danger.

The Wawatam was pinned in the ice fields Thursday night while en route from St. Ignace to Mackinac City.

Efficient Housekeeping

A HOUSEWORK SCHEDULE MAKES YOUR WORK EASIER

Here is a good housework schedule for the woman who has no maid to help her. For all days of the week except Sunday, Wash Day, Ironing Day and Baking Day, proceed as follows: Get breakfast, put up school or business lunches, clear away dishes (washing them) then do the ordering by telephone—for, few women who have all their own housework to do have the strength to go to market in person.

The next step is to make up the bed-rooms. School children who are old enough, should be encouraged to try to make their own beds before going to school. The man of the family or boys over eleven years of age, should bring up buckets of coal from the cellar to help Mother, and carry down ashes. Mother cannot be expected to do it all. She needs all the help her family can give her.

Next clean one room. If one room is cleaned a day—except on the days mentioned above—the dust and dirt will never "get ahead of one." Each day crumbs around the dining table should be swept up, however, to preserve the rug. Have a small bell on the kitchen table for the grocer's boy to ring when he brings the groceries; this saves the housekeeper from having to listen for him—and perhaps miss him; she can then pay him and can also put in the ice box all perishable groceries which he has brought. This is the time, too, to put over the fire any luncheon food which requires long cooking. Then go back to the task you were performing and finish it before setting the luncheon table and completing luncheon.

After clearing away the luncheon dishes, the housekeeper should lie down in her own room. If she cannot take a nap she can read a book or magazine and get her mind off herself for a while. If she has young children to care for, she should put them in a pen on the floor of her room, or let them play around. If she has no small children and prefers to go out—perhaps to the movies or to shop or make a call—she really ought to have a fireless cooker in the kitchen in which to start some dinner dish such as an Irish stew or cornbeef and cabbage, which require

HELEN HUNTER'S HUSBAND

BY JANE PHELPS

HELEN SLEEPS A BIT TOO LONG
Chapter 20.

After Jack had departed, Helen drank another cup of coffee, took in the ice for the day, and the morning paper, then retreated to her room, leaving word that she was not to be disturbed by the telephone.

"Jack's a good boy!" she said aloud as she passed through the orderly living room. "But he's so silly! He could easily earn more and then we could have a maid. I sort of hate to have him do housework, but if I give in now I'll never get what I want," and throwing off the kimono that covered her nightdress, she crawled back into bed, the paper her companion.

She read it through from beginning to end understanding only a part of what she read—if you exclude the advertisements, which she understood very well indeed. Then, the paper finished, she darkened the room and slept. This was how Jack found her when at 5 o'clock he came home early after a tiresome and discouraging day.

At first he thought she was out. "Playing bridge again!" he muttered crossly. Then he noted the drawn shades and quick fear sent him into the bedroom where he found Helen cuddled in bed, fast asleep.

Jack was hungry, tired, and—he acknowledged it to himself—cross. He had interviewed several "prospects" but they had remained "prospects." He had received little encouragement that they would ever be anything more. Finally he had determined to go home early, eat his dinner and go to bed.

"When I get that sleep made up things may look brighter," he grumbled with a twisted smile.

As he stood and looked down at the soft curves of his sleeping wife it was not admiration that stirred him, but indignation. He had cleaned the house, made it habitable for her, had lost all of his night's sleep while she slept quietly after her guests had gone, and now, still asleep, she angered him. Without waking her he flung out of the room.

In the dining room he halted. The breakfast table was exactly as he had left it. Soiled dishes and the smell of stale food disgusted him. For a long moment he stood looking in disgust at the table, then with a muttered curse resumed his coat and hat and without a word left the flat.

An hour passed. Helen yawned and stretched luxuriously.

"I wonder what time it is!" she muttered just as the clock in a neighboring tower commenced to strike the hour.

Lazily she began to count. When she came to 6 she sat up. At 7 she was out of bed. She drew the shades and looked out into the early night.

"I wonder where Jack is?" she said aloud as she drew on some clothes, then giggled to think she had slept so long. She felt rested, good. But how
